

YI JIN

Yi trained in his home country of China as an actor and director before immigrating to Australia after the Tiananmen Square massacre. His highly successful career in China spanned theatre, film and television as an actor, director and presenter and host of one of China's most popular television shows. In Australia Yi first took any odd jobs while pursuing his acting career in conjunction with teaching at tertiary institutions and obtaining a doctorate in the area of Chinese Performing Arts and Culture. He also co-directed and trained Melbourne University's Chinese Theatre Group.
